THE TARIFF BILL REPORTED BY THE FINANCE COMMITTEE.

SIMILAR TO THE SENATE BILL OF 1888.

Will the House Pass the Senate Free Coinage Bill?

IF SO. WILL THE PRESIDENT VETO IT?

Neminations Rejected... The Fish Commission Investigation -- District Measures Considered.

The Tariff bill was reported to the Senate from the Committee on Finance to day. No report has been prepared by the committee and no estimate of the increase in the revenue resulting from the changes made.

The understanding is that the bill will not be called up for discussion until about July 1. A member of the committee stated this morning that the bill as reported, with the exception of the agricultural, wool and woolen schedules, was the same substantially as the Finance Committee bill of 1888,

The tobacco schedule is unchanged, In the sugar schedule the bounty of two cents per pound is extended to maple sugar. No bounty is to be given for less than 500 pounds of sugar annually. A penalty of $5,000 fine, or less, or not more than five years' imprisonment, or both, is pro-vided for fraudulent applications for bounty. A duty of 3-10 cent per pound is put on sugars between No. 13 and No. 16, Dutch standard (free in the House bill), and the duty on sugars above No. 16 is increased from 4-10c.

The chief changes are in the earthen ware, metal, agricultural and sundries schedules, and the schedule of flax, hemp and jute.

District in Congress, The Rallroad sub-committee of the House District Committee was to have heard the representatives of various contemplated street rallroads, bills for Atkinson had been called out the city by the drowning of a nephew and Mr. Post had another engagement. This left Mr. Heard and Mr. Mudd, not a ucrum, and no hearing was had.

Mr. Ingalls to day introduced a bili authorizing the construction of a jall and reformatory for women in the District. It provides that the site and the plans shall be selected by the Secretary of the Interior; that it shall be large enough to accommodate 300 persons, and the en-tire cost shall not exceed $200,000. It is to be under the "general oversight" of the warden of the United States jail, who shall appoint a female super-intendent and such female assistants and matrons as are required. The final section provides that the institution, when completed, is to be used only for women and to be under the control and management of women.

A favorable report was made to the House to-day on Mr. O'Neill's bill providing for a library for the Government

The Fish Commission Investigation, The Senate Committee on Fisheries this morning continued the investigation of the Fish Commission and Com-McDonald. The following witnesses were examined: E. S. Ray mond of this city, H. H. Moore, L. G. Harron, W. H. Wright, an employe of the Fish Commission, and E. Fitzgerald and E. J. Rogers, both of the commission. The committee then adourned until to morrow.

As the committee sits with closed doors, nothing definite can be learned as to the force of the testimony elicited. There is a general impression abroad at the Capitor that the investigation will come to nothing. All the witnesses so far examined who would say anything outside the committee room have declared that they either testified to knowing nothing of their knowl edge, or have been favorable to Mr. Mc Denald's management.

Revenue Marine.

Petitions favoring the transfer of the Revenue Marine service to the Navy Department were presented to the Senate yesterday as followe: By the Vice-President from Naval Post No. 516, G. A. R., of New York: by Mr. Gray from Dushane Post, No. 3, of Maryland; Wilson Post, No. 327, of New York: Post, No. 46, of Maryland; Hut-chins Post, No. 46, of Maryland; Hut-chins Post, No. 111, of Mafine, and res-olutions of the New York Board of lutions of the New York Board of Trade and Transportation.

Mr. Wilson Declines.

Congressman William L. Wilson of West Virginia returned to the city yesterday. He says that he will not ac cept the position of president of the University of Missouri recently tendered He will run for Congress again this fall. His district is a close one. and he is probably the only man whose candidacy makes it reasonably sure to go Democratic.

THE PREE COINAGE BILL

WILL THE BOUSE PASS OF ?-WILL THE PRESIDENT VETO IT! Will the House pass the Free Coinage bill as it came to it to day from the Senate? If the House passes it, will the President yeto it? These are the burning questions of At a quarter of 1 o'clock to day the democratic side. It was voted down you?

The difficulty is the Republicans, not even the redorbachie Recal, don's know what to do with it. Whether it will be considered first in Committee of the Whole or go to a vote at once in the House. One argument is that as a amount) it must go to the Committee of the Whole. On the other hand it is argued that the House Silver bill, which carried an appropriation in the same way, was considered in the House with at going through the Committee Speaker Ven dance as of the Whole at all. Up to date Speaker weed to when I was a boy.

Reed has expressed no opinion in public. If the bill gots fairly before the House t will pass. If it does, and it goes to he President as it came from the Senate.

Will the President veto it?

There are those who think he will let it become a law. But they base their epialon on the assumption that the Freshient is a candidate for renomination. But his conversa-tion with a friend, elsewhere reported, shows this assumption to be without foundation. The best opinion is that he will veto a free colonge act.

Again, many think the bill will be amended in the House to coin $4,000,000, or $4,000,000, making them and the certificates issued therefor legal tender, and that the President would sign such a bill. It would, of course, go into conference, but those who think this course will be adopted believe the Senate would accept it.

The Republicans will probably caucus before the matter comes before the House, but it is doubtful if the silver men in the House can be induced to go into a caucus on the matter, they will prefer to do as was done in the Senate, act on the matter as individuals and not as parileons. It is said, for in-stance, that Mr. Frank of Missouri declares he will attend no more caucuses.

ENGLAND HAD DRAINED IRELAND. The insistance of France that resident English subjects of the second generation in that country shall be subject to military duty, although slight in itself, is the cause of irritation between England and France. There is a large British colony in France, some of them settled there ever since Waterieo and still claiming to be British subjects, and the sudden drafting of the sons and grandsons into the uncomfortable existence of a French conscript has shaken up the extless tremendously. There is no help for them, however, much as they may be disgusted with the situation, and in the event of a conflict with Great Britain, their lot will be unenviable indeed. England proposes to follow American example by establishing a criminal court of appeal, more especially for capital cases, sud popular disapproval of recent decisions of the home office, to which the only appeal now lies, gives much force to the argument in favor of reform. There is a general public impression that capital cases are dealt with too hastily and often unjustice.

THOUGHT WARREN WAS A DUDE.

How a Bully was Fooled by the Young Pugilist. Tominy Warren, the featherweight pugilist, is in town, looking as neat and dapper as ever, says the Chicago He has blossomed out this spring in most remarkable topcoat. In the anguage of his friends it's a "bute," and some of them go so far as to say i is a "paralyzer."

It is the peculiarly delicate shade of the cloth that elicits these encomiums, and this, together with the perfect fit upon the trim and apparently slight but really solid figure, makes Tommy look like a full fledged dude. He was standing on North Clark street one afternoon a few days ago, talking with a friend, while a few feet away stood a big chap, also engaged in a palaver with some acquaintance; Tommy's coat caught the eye of the big fellow and it evidently made him green

He began "guying" it, and Tomony heard a running fire of remarks, among which were: "Where did you get that coat?" "Get onto his dudelets." Tommy paid no attention to the big oully, though he heard it all and kept als eye open for his chance. It came,

The big chap could not resist the temptation to rub the dudish little man harder, feeling that his size made him safe, and he took a walk around Tommy, saying, with his head cocked on onside 'Oh, what a coat!" And as he pushed his face with an insolent look close to Tommy that young hitter swiped him on the cheek with the back of his hand.

It was a startler for the bully, but he squared off and made a savage bit for Mr. Warren. Tommy easily parried the blow, and he let out with his right fist and caught the fellow on the jaw, laying him flat on the sidewalk, and then went on with his talk as though nothing had happened. As the big fellow plexed himself up and steed holding his jaw in his hand, condering how such a blow could come from such a little man, an acquaintance came up and, learning from the man the bully had been talking with the state of affairs, he stepped up to the
